Your summer task is to find, collect, and document objects, images, and articles that you find interesting and that are related to YOU, this can include the everyday but also think outside of this, this mini-summer task is a prelude to your main project 'ORIGINS: EXPLORING YOUR IDENTITY' so make whatever you produce count as you will be taking your colours, pattern, images, texture, drawings and ideas into your first project.

A total of 20 pages minimum will be needed in your A5 sketchbook or notebook.

you will document your interests, events and experiences by collecting and producing things such as:

- Drawings – pencil, paint, ink, etc -can be very quick and rough and can be long studies.
- Doodles
- Photographs
- Bits of magazine articles
- Bits of newspaper articles
- Your thoughts and writing
- Song lyrics
- Event tickets or memorabilia (that will find you your sketchbook!)
- Fashion drawings
- Bits of fabric and textiles

The list is limitless: anything which you find interesting enough to put into your A5 sketchbook; you can work on the page by writing or by doodling and drawing.

You will be using your A5 sketchbook on your first day so it is essential you complete this task.
